Haemosexual is a developing, community based online support and information resource.

Haemosexual will stand for equality, education and better healthcare for everyone with a bleeding disorder no matter what their sexual orientation is.

Sexuality and disability is a subject still not spoken about and many people are unfortunately not provided with the support needed from the wider Haemophilia professional community. Sometimes this is due to a lack of awareness, information or a person to confide in, who really understands.

Haemosexual has been designed to offer practical advice and information, along with providing education to patients, medical professionals and other organisations. Our aim is that those who are vulnerable become properly protected, which means communicating with them as people and not a condition.

Safety information, support and sexual health matters can be offered more effectively and in a manner which people feel comfortable with. Speaking to likeminded others offers a sense of security and understanding, allowing them to talk openly about their lives, body, physical and mental overall health.

Project Aims

Promoting sexual health, risk prevention, personal safety and awareness along with psychological / emotional wellbeing

Provide a safe non-clinical environment for sexual health education and information to all those with a bleeding disorder

To highlight the sexual diversity across the global Haemophilia / bleeding disorder community and the implications of ignoring sexuality

To share information with the view to prevent any further suffering, injuries or people being harmed due to a void of educational material

To inspire all those with a bleeding disorder to achieve their full potential no matter what their sexual orientation

To emphasise the need for more openness, education and support for sexual health and wellbeing issues for those with a bleeding disorder

To raise awareness of how difficult life is for those with bleeding disorders in some parts of the World, and why sex and sexuality bring their own dangers
